UpSkill with ESITO

ESITO offers scholarships of up to $3000 just for electricity supply employees who want to further their careers. Study options range from National Certificates and Diplomas to one-off courses (*conditions apply).

What is an UpSkill Scholarship?

UpSkill Scholarships are to support new career development for electricity supply industry employees. An UpSkill Scholarship can help fund skill development which is outside an employee's current training programme.

The purpose is to help retain employees in the industry and to address the skill shortages identified by the industry and the Gap Research (undertaken for ESITO by the University of Otago).

Who is eligible?

You can apply for an UpSkill Scholarship if your employer is a member of ESITO. Training must be of mid to long-term benefit to the company and the Electricity Supply Industry. Your employer must endorse the training you'd like to do.

What courses are eligible?

- University study
- National Diplomas
- National Certificates
- One off courses

Training in all areas of the Electricity Supply Industry is eligible, from further development in trade qualifications to health and safety, business administration and management.

Recently scholarships have been awarded for:

- National Certificates in Occupational Health & Safety, Business Administration L 4, Electrical Engineering L 5
- National Diploma in Engineering (Electrotechnology), NZ Diploma in Business, National Diploma in Health & Safety Management
- Graduate Diploma in Management

What does the scholarship cover?

The scholarships are available for current or future training. The monies can cover the fees, as well as related costs such as travel or text books.

How are scholarships awarded?

Scholarship applications are accepted throughout the year and reviewed by a panel. Applications are reviewed and outcomes notified promptly.

How are scholarships paid?

Once an UpSkill Scholarship has been awarded, monies will be paid out after ESITO has received all required documentation (enrolment confirmation, fees receipts, bank account verification etc). They can be paid to the company or an individual, depending on who is paying for the training.
